MARCO PIVA RUGS

Following the SOFT LANDSCAPES collection, it was a natural step for me to continue, upon invitation of ege, a story already begun. Therefore, I carried out an in depth research of 'territory textiles' of limited dimensions, contained within predefined dimensions and closed forms.

My graphic analysis commenced from a selection of designs which strongly characterised the SOFT LANDSCAPE collection. These developed liberally into signs, traces and novel forms.

These design elements, treated with new colour palettes, gave rise to unusual atmospheres.

This new collection was conceived to be utilised in medium to large areas, whilst maintaining the possibility (for a select number of designs) to be used in public as well as domestic interiors of smaller areas.

The designs and colours interact in a harmonious manner even with the most complex interior design of areas destined for public use such as hotels, residences, congress centres, offices, cinemas and theatres.

A number of designs evoke imaginary spaces. Others derive from the transformation of real images, objects, landscapes and textures, all of which have been collected during my travels.

These considerations, gathered in paintings and elaborated through computer processes, have generated an original and artistic scenery, which through the use of unique and dynamic colour schemes, represent the emotional route of my journeys.
